Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Military Training Exercise

NEWNAN, Georgia, August 15, 2025 – The City of Newnan today announced that the members of the United States Army Special Operations Command will conduct military training in and around Newnan on Saturday, August 16. The training will consist of rotary wing and ground mobility operations and ground based close quarter battle training. Local terrain provides a unique training opportunity and simulates environments troops may encounter while deployed.

Please note this training is not in response to any local events. Robust safety precautions are currently in place to protect both the participants and the City residents, along with significant planning considerations to minimize the impact to the community. No public viewing opportunities will be available throughout the exercise, as the participants will maintain the highest level of security.
